About Eskişehir

Eskişehir (pronounced [es'kişehir]; Turkish: eski"old", şehir"city") is a city in northwestern Turkey and the capital of the Eskişehir Province. According to the 2011 census, the population of the city is 648,396. The city is located on the banks of the Porsuk River, 792 m above sea level, where it overlooks the fertile Phrygian Valley. In the nearby hills one can find hot springs. The city is 233 km (145 mi) to the west of Ankara, 330 km (205 mi) to the southeast of Istanbul and 78 km (48 mi) to the northeast of Kütahya. Known as a university town, both Eskişehir Osmangazi University and Anadolu University (which has one of the largest student enrollments in the world) are based in Eskişehir. The province covers an area of 2,678 km² (1,034 sqmi).

About the TC: NGO Fundamentals

The Idea: This project's outline was created after a research and observation on today's youth NGOs. We had many chances to discuss about the problems of civil society works with people who are active youth workers (managers, members, leaders, volunteers) in several platforms. One of the most common problem that we face is difficulties of achieving intended impacts and acting sustainable. The conclusion was: lack of organizational management & development skills in the youth organizations and NGOs. This problem creates a huge barrier between NGO and its stakeholders in terms of efficiency. For that reason we've chosen to focus mainly on "effective NGO and organizational identity", "organizational structure", "activity planning", "sustainability" and to the other related skills that we believe the milestones of organizational management & development.

The Aim: To discuss, strengthen & develop "the model" for a sustainable youth NGO by focusing on topics such as organizational identity, organizational structure, activity planning, source management and sustainability.
