And would you like to get more experience to be better prepared next time?

If your answers are positive, second training course within the project

Youthworker 2.0 is here just for you.

Main aim of this project is to support quality of youth work by raising competencies of youth leaders and youth trainers.

Objectives

Objectives of this training are as following. The participants will:

- reflect their own attitudes towards inclusion of people with special needs and fewer opportunities in a group
- understand the various disadvantages, their background and how to deal with it if such disadvantage appears in a group
- have space for sharing experience in international context and create new activities or projects.

Target group:

This Training Course is for participants, who:

- speak English on a good level (as the whole TC will be in English)
- have experience in working with a group of youth and dealing with the group dynamics. They should be involved in youth work for at least 1 year or have experience with organizing or leading at least two international projects.
- have at least one concrete experience with having a participant with fewer opportunities or special needs in a group.
- are motivated to raise quality of their educational activities and to use the competence increased by the training in their work with youth
- preferably are in a cooperation with one of the partner organisations (not compulsory)
